

Cleveland Committee on Foreign Relations

A Look at the Past Seasons: 2018-2022

As we celebrate a new season of engagement and dialogue in international affairs, look back at the last five years of Cleveland Council on Foreign Relations' programming.

2021-2022 Season

Ilan Goldenberg: The U.S.-Israel Relationship After Netanyahu

Gregory Shaffer: Emerging Powers and the World Trading System

Kaitlyn Johnson: Space Security - Threats and Foreign Policy Implications

Terry Roberts: Implementing Cyber Risk Management Frameworks

Andrew Yeo: Adapting the U.S.-South Korea Alliance to the Indo-Pacific Era

Paul Angelo: Getting U.S. Security Assistance Right: Lessons from Mexico, Central America, and Colombia

Cameron Hudson: The Horn of Africa and Its Strategic Implications

Pierre Morcos: The Future of Europe: A French Perspective

2020-2021 Season

Randolph Bell and Anders Åslund: The Geopolitics of Energy: A Look at Russia and Saudi Arabia's Role

Karen Donfried: Germany and America's Changing Relationship

Cynthia Arnson: Security Challenges and Prospects for Peace in Colombia

Ambassador Reuben Brigety: Emerging Powers in Sub-Saharan Africa

Celina Realuyo: Countering Global Terrorist Funding and Illicit Networks

Thomas Countryman: Nuclear Proliferation Risks and Concerns

Randa Slim: Lebanon in Crisis

Rear Admiral Paul Becker: Grand Strategy in the Asia-Pacific

Cleveland Committee on Foreign Relations

2019-2020 Season

Kemal Kirisci: Turkey, a U.S. Ally Adrift: Is a Reversal Possible?

Dany Bahar: Venezuela: How We Got Here, and What's Next?

Richard Hoagland: The New Silk Road: U.S. Strategic Interests in the Caspian Sea Region

Ambassador Stephen Young: Taiwan and the U.S.: What Does the Future Hold?

Richard Rossow: India's Rise as an Economic and Military Power

Farah Pandith: How We Win: Defeating the Extremist Threat

Chris Demchak: Cyber Conflict and New Global Reality: Threats and Possibilities for Democratic Survival

Frances Burwell: The Post-Covid19 Transatlantic Relationship

2018-2019 Season

Jarrett Blanc: Where Do We Go From Here: The Future of U.S.-Iran Relations

Richard Miles: At a Crossroads- Insight Into the U.S.-Mexico Relationship

Roy Kamphausen: U.S.-China Relations, A Look at Military

Anna Borshchevskaya: Exploring Russia's Role in the Middle East

Mathew Burrows: Alternative Futures for the World: Examining Global Order

Geoffrey Gertz: NAFTA 2.0 and the Future of American Trade Policy

Ambassador Bruce Wharton: U.S. Interests and Policy in Africa

Walter Berbrick: Challenges and Trials in the Arctic

2017-2018 Season

Abigail Esman: Beyond Terrorism: Addressing Terrorism at Home and Abroad

Klaus-Dieter Frankenberger: The Merkel Regime- Germany after the Election

Scott Stewart: Understanding Cybersecurity: Understanding Cybersecurity and Physical Security

Andrea Murta: Anatomy of Corruption: The Case of Brazil

Naoyuki Agawa: Japan's Security Policy in East Asia and Beyond: North Korea, China and the Alliance

David Dollar: China's Growing Role in the World Economy

Sarah Feuer: Religion and Politics in North Africa: Emerging Trends and Implications for U.S. Policy

Michael Peterson: A New 'Type' of War: Russian Warfare in the 21st Century

Cleveland Council on WORLD AFFAIRS

